

PREWRITING

- 1) Think of an idea for a story, and put it in the center of the circle.
- 2) Think of words you will use in your story, and put them on the outer lines.

The diagram consists of a central circle with three lines extending from its perimeter to four sets of writing lines. Each set of writing lines is labeled '1.' and '2.'. The top-left set is labeled '2.' on the left. The top-right set is labeled '2.' on the left. The bottom-left set is labeled '2.' on the left. The bottom-right set is labeled '2.' on the left. The central circle contains a set of writing lines labeled '1.' on the left.
